House Committee On Ways And Means Has No Amendment To Make To The Tariff Measure.

DEMOCRATS HAVE UNTIL TUESDAY

They Then Will Put In Their Minority Report On The Measure--Work On Measure Will Begin At Once So As To Hasten Matters.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, March 18.—The first fight on the new tariff measure drawn up and known as the Payne bill will come when the democratic minority make their report next Tuesday.

As a Unit.
The House committee met this morning to discuss the measure as a whole and the republican members were unanimous to present the measure back to congress without any amendments.

Democrats Object.
Six of the democratic members had amendments to the measure they wished incorporated and voted against a unanimous report. It was decided then to permit them until Tuesday to draw up their report.

One Stands Pat.
Congressman Broussard, of Louisiana, a democratic member, voted with the republican majority to report the bill without comment and will probably not take part in the future deliberations of the democratic members.

Bill Presented.
Immediately after the House convened this morning, Congressman Payne presented the tariff bill back to the house without any amendment as decided upon by the republican members of the committee.

Resolution Adopted.
A resolution was adopted calling for the printing of thirty thousand copies of the bill that they may be distributed to those interested so that a thorough hearing can be had on all points at issue.

Much Comment.
There seems to be considerable comment relative to the measure on the part of congressmen who have made the measure a study and worked for certain provisions. The impression is that it favors many manufacturers, especially the woolen goods trade.

Thorough Hearing.
There is a feeling that the measure will be given a thorough hearing before special committees before being passed, although the measure in the main seems to meet with the general approval of the members.

Kept Faith.
The framers of the measure kept faith with President Taft in the general provisions of the bill and the general tendency is for a downward revision of the Dingley tariff schedule throughout the entire document.

Many Satisfied.
The clause relative to the inheritance law is generally approved, Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida are pleased; California likes its fruit protection, and the New England states have their special privileges.

Wisconsin Members.
The Wisconsin members of the house are not prepared as yet to discuss at length the new tariff bill. They are studying it and figuring what it means to the interests of their state and the country.

Stephenson's Views.
Senator Stephenson, who has been all along a strong advocate of free lumber, found some concessions in his views in the out of 50 per cent in that schedule, though it does not go so far as he would like it to go.

Stafford Pleased.
Mr. Stafford is pleased, though not astonished, that pulp and paper schedules, providing heavy reductions in duties, follow the recommendation made by the special committee of which he was a member, which investigated the question of pulp and paper prices, tariff, export and import duties, etc.

Will Pass.
He believes these reductions will be so well sustained by the testimony and conclusion of the committee which made the investigation that there will be no doubt of the reductions standing.

Dialloks Provision.
Mr. Davidson expressed a good deal of displeasure over the reduction in barley duty from 20 to 15 cents per bushel. This is a big concession to the eastern growing interests at the expense of those in the west.

Aids East.
The eastern growers want to get Canadian barley because it is nearer and the cost of transportation is less than if they bought it in the west.

West Had Chance.
With Canadian barley shut out, the western growers had the big advantage of being nearer the barley producing region than were those of the east.

Kuesterman Busy.
A year and a half ago Representative Kuesterman of Wisconsin started a war on the petroleum tariff. He is on the free list under the Dingley act, but there is a provision that when another country imposes a duty on American petroleum, this country shall retaliate by applying an equal tariff on petroleum from that country, brought here.

Drive at Russia.
This is aimed direct at Russia, the only country which has petroleum to sell us. Russia imposes duties of 75 to 150 per cent on our petroleum and petroleum products, which automatically operates to impose on our parts like a duty on the petroleum that comes here.

Would Investigate.
It gives these articles then a complete monopoly. Mr. Kuesterman had been informed that this countervailing law would be removed, and he is much surprised to find that it is not. It has been retained in the bill. That is all he has learned, and he is now trying to find out why.

Was Formally Opened by the Diplomats and Princes of the Church Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Rome, March 18.—The diplomats, the princes of the church and the Roman aristocracy turned out in full force today to attend the formal opening and inauguration of the new picture gallery of the Vatican. The gallery occupies seven beautiful halls running along the right side of the Cortile de Belvedere, opposite the famous Vatican library which was built in 1588, when Sixtus V. was pope. The entrance is by magnificent glass doors at the bottom of the staircase to the Sala a Croce Greca, and above which is a golden inscription stating that the installation of the new gallery is due to the initiative of the present pope.

The new gallery enhances no fewer than three hundred canvases, displayed in seven halls. This is in addition to the sixty pictures contained in the old Vatican gallery. The additional pictures were brought from the Lateran Palace and the private apartments of the Vatican.

The first hall contains a unique collection of Byzantine pictures; the second is given over to the Tuscan school; the third contains examples of the Umbrian school; in the fourth is the gem of the collection, Raphael's "Transfiguration," which hangs alone on the main wall; the fifth hall is given over to the Venetian school, headed by Titian; the sixth to examples of the sixteenth century, and the seventh to pictures by famous foreign artists.

The senatorial primary election today dealt with various district campaigns and the claim of former state Game Warden Overbeck that he caused his deputies to devote their time to politics by the order of ex-Governor La Follette. This may bring the present United States senator to testify in denial.

But there are also ones who whisper that if he thought he was picking a lemon, he may find him no less so. Kline has not shown long but his friends declare that he is a corner fighter. In his recent bouts he has made an excellent showing and his supporters are confident that he has a good chance for a draw with Attell even if he does not get the decision.

THREE OTHER STATES MAY INVESTIGATE

Investigation of Workmen's Insurance in Wisconsin May Also Lead Neighbors to Look Into Matters.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 18.—The passage yesterday of the joint resolution for a special session of the legislature and an investigation of the bank deposits, water powers and income tax brings to light the fact that the inquiry of workmen's insurance may be by three other states in connection with the Wisconsin committee. The resolution provides for the appointment of a committee composed of three senators and four assemblymen to investigate each of these problems. This will keep twenty-eight of the 133 members of the legislature busy for the greater part of the summer. It is known that Gov. Warner of Michigan has written a letter to Gov. Johnson of Minnesota asking for information as to what Minnesota is doing. He says Michigan is seriously considering the question of workmen's insurance, and is likely to pass a commission. Illinois has already created one and Wisconsin has the plan. The suggestion has been made by some of the members of the legislature that if Minnesota chapters such a committee of the legislature the four states should co-operate in securing data and working out the question.

The general gossip at the legislature this morning is who will be appointed on the various committees. It is said here that the men most prominently mentioned for the committee on income tax are: Senators Whitehead, Hudnall and S. M. Marsh, Assemblymen M. J. Cleary, D. C. Chapple and J. S. Towser.

Workmen's insurance: Senators T. M. Brazear, E. T. Enfield and I. T. Bishop. Assemblymen F. W. Kolassa, Platt Whitman, Simon Smith and S. A. Towser.

Guaranty of Bank Deposits: Senator W. C. Owen, J. E. Lehr and A. W. Sanborn. Assemblymen L. W. Ledyard, George E. Scott, Wallace Ingalls and H. V. Schwalbach.

Water powers: Senators E. E. Browne, H. P. Bird and Thomas Morris. Assemblymen W. M. Bray, E. W. Le Roy, D. H. Stevens and J. S. Stack.

There are a number of others mentioned as possibilities for some of these committees, but it is understood that the appointing officers of each house have reached no definite conclusion as yet.

NO BREAK YET IN ILLINOIS DEADLOCK

Vote Remains Practically the Same in Senatorial Contest—Is 46th Ballot Taken.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Springfield, Ill., March 18.—The forty-sixth joint ballot today for senator resulted as follows: Hopkins, 76; Pons, 18; Shorter, 18; Burlingor, 23; Mason, 4; Lowden, 2; McKinley, 2; Patton, 30; Bergen, 2; Sherman, 2; Colburn, 1.

The legislature in joint session today adopted the report of the contest committee which found Adlai Stevenson's petition was not sufficient, showing prima facie the opening of the ballot boxes for a recount. This removed the cloud upon the title of Gov. Deneen to succeed himself.

"GRANGER" GOVERNOR DIES NEAR MADISON

William R. Taylor Passes Away at the Gisholt Home.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 18.—Former Governor William R. Taylor, Wisconsin's famous granger governor of 35 years ago, died at the Gisholt home for the aged, four miles east of Madison, at five o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the age of 89 years. Governor Taylor came to the home from his farm in the town of Cottage Grove a little over three years ago and had been there since. He had been rapidly failing for a few days and passed away without any relatives at his bedside. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made but the burial will probably be at Forest Hill cemetery, where his first wife is buried, and will probably occur on Saturday. Some action by the state will undoubtedly be taken, although nothing has yet been determined.

Governor Taylor was a typical self-made man of the pioneer era type. He was born in Connecticut July 29, 1820. His mother died when he was but three weeks old and his father was lost at sea six years later. So he was brought up by relatives from New York and grew up in poverty. He was ambitious for an education and saved money by hauling eleven hundred barrels of sugar and at sixteen entered Union College, Schenectady, N. Y. Later he taught school and in 1845 entered the medical school at Cleveland, Ohio, but had to leave his studies because of failing eyesight. In 1848, when Wisconsin was admitted to the Union, he came to this state and settled on a farm in the town of Cottage Grove. He quickly became prominent in agricultural circles, held various local offices, was for many years chairman of the board of supervisors, 17 years county superintendent of the poor, member of both houses of the legislature, president of the state agricultural society, etc. When the granger movement began in the early seventies he quickly became prominent and was swept into the governorship in 1873 by the fusion of the grangers and democrats. In a stormy legislative session much anti-railroad legislation was enacted, including an anti-pass law and the famous Potter law, creating a railroad rate commission. Governor Taylor was defeated for reelection by the railroads and the Potter law was repealed by the next legislature although the supreme court sustained the constitutionality of state regulation of corporations.

After retiring as governor Taylor lived on his Cottage Grove farm until entering the home for the aged three years ago. Governor Taylor was twice married. In 1842 to Miss Catherine Horb, who died leaving three daughters, and in 1866 to Viola Titus of Madison, who survives him with one son, William R. Taylor, a machinist employed by the Gisholt Co., of Madison. Justice R. M. Rashford, formerly of the supreme court, was private secretary to Governor Taylor and married his daughter. She, however, died many years ago.

Governor Taylor was interested in many financial enterprises, among them cranberry growing. He died a poor man, however, having lost the greater part of his property in his last years through stock speculation.

LOMBARD SEEKS FOREIGN POST

DISTINGUISHED FRENCHMAN WANTS AN AMBASSADORSHIP.

INTERESTS ARE WORLD-WIDE

Story of Poor Violinist Who Beat the Wall Street Game and Became a Modern Croesus.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., March 18.—One of the most unique and interesting persons among the thousands who have drifted into Washington with the change of administration is Louis Lombard, whom a writer once described as a real, live insulated human who, Mr. Lombard wants to go as ambassador to Spain, China or some other important mission and hopes the President will see his way clear to give him the appointment. The life story of Louis Lombard reads like a far-fetched romance. Born in France about fifty years ago, he came to the United States at the age of fourteen as a penniless orphan. Today he is reported to be worth at least $500,000. He owns the magnificent Chateau du Trevano, at Lugano, in Switzerland, where he has spent the most of his time the past few years. He is the leading stockholder in the Italo-Argentine Society of Buenos Ayres, which controls the leading opera-houses of South America. He owns the Costanzi Opera House in Rome. He is the owner of zinc, iron and lead mines in the United States and in other countries. He is the owner of vast quantities of railway stock. In fact he is interested in so many projects all over the world that he himself admits it would be hard for him to enumerate them without consulting his records. Mr. Lombard is passionately fond of music. He has a private opera house in his palace in Switzerland, and he has an orchestra that he maintains there the year round. And there is good reason why he should love music, for it was his fiddle, as he fondly calls it, that laid the foundation for his fortune.

When he landed a penniless youth at Castle Garden he had nothing but his fiddle. He went to Utica, where he had some acquaintances, and got a position as violinist in an orchestra. In a few years he organized the Utica Conservatory of Music and Languages. His persistence made it a success. Then he decided to study law and in the course of time he graduated with high honors from the law school of Columbia University. And about the same time came another important change in his fortune. He married the beautiful daughter of "Tom" Allen of St. Louis, who built the Missouri Pacific Railway and then sold it to Jay Gould at an enormous profit.

Mr. Lombard showed that musician and dreamer though he might be, he was able to cope successfully with the hard-headed financiers of Wall street. When he made his appearance among the bulls and bears he was totally unknown. But in a very short time it came to be known that the little dynamic man amounted to something and that he was beating the old heads at their own game. Louis Lombard came out of Wall street with millions, no one knows how many.

With his fortune made he proceeded to indulge his love for music, literature, painting and travel. He traveled the world over and over and as a result he mastered no fewer than eleven languages. He has written several successful books and has composed three comic operas. And now he would like to round out his marvelous career by becoming the representative of his adopted country at some foreign court.

TRIBUTES TO LATE GROVER CLEVELAND

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, March 18.—In the presence of a large audience that comprised many persons of national fame, President Taft, Chief Justice Fuller, Governor Hughes and other speakers this afternoon paid tribute to the memory of Grover Cleveland, the occasion being the seventy-second anniversary of the ex-President's birth. The memorial exercises were held in Carnegie Hall, where Mr. Cleveland delivered one of his last public addresses.

Every available inch of space in the galleries and on the floor was occupied, and the audience was an immense one. Admission to the hall was restricted to the holders of tickets. Mayor McClellan presided. The exercises consisted chiefly of prayer by the Rev. Dr. William Rogers Richards, the address of President Taft, Chief Justice Fuller and Governor Hughes and a poem by Richard Watson Gilder. Walter Damrosch directed the music, which was furnished by the New York Symphony Orchestra and the German Liederkreis. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Dr. Samuel Schuchman.

President Taft's address was universally pronounced a splendid eulogy of the late President. Many times in the course of the eulogy some of those who had been closest to Mr. Cleveland were seen to be deeply moved by the President's words.

The program carried out at Carnegie Hall this afternoon is to be concluded this evening with exercises in the great hall of the College of the City of New York. Mayor McClellan will preside and addresses will be made by Senator Elihu Root, Judge George Gray of Delaware and Governor Hughes. Though he will not speak a second time, it is expected that President Taft will attend the night meeting. The music will be supplied by the Philharmonic Orchestra and the United Singers of New York.

THE TARIFF BILL

Congress now has the long expected tariff bill, with which to wrestle over and the country waits with interest what will be their decision upon matters of importance. It is often the case that the House proposes and the Senate disposes these important matters, consequently the attitude of the Senate to the provisions will be interesting to note. The House committee on ways and means may report a measure most satisfactory to the consumers while the senate will take the side of the adverse interests and slash the house measure into little bits. This has been true in many instances in the past and now is the time for the consumer to seek to protect his interests and save from mutilation the particular portions which they are most interested in.

Among these is the putting of hides on the free list. It will give the wage workers cheaper or better shoes. The farmers of the country have been asking in an unorganized fashion for the repeal of the duty on lumber. The ways and means committee recommends that it be cut in two. That is not going far enough, but it will be something to secure that much. The proposed reduction by one-half of the steel duties will not harm either the steel corporation or the independent, but it will prevent the raising of prices to an extravagant height.

The bill has its demerits as well as its merits. While it should be welcomed as a step in the direction of reasonable protection as opposed to excessive protection, harmful to the people, it is not a long enough step. For instance, the committee on ways and means has failed to do its duty by the duties on wool. It has lowered slightly those on carpet wools and shoddy and left those on clothing wools untouched. The United States cannot produce the wool that is required to clothe its people, but the interests of the ranchmen are the only ones the committee has considered. It has not done enough revealing in the proper direction and has raised too many duties.

It has acted discreetly in refusing to take coffee off the free list. It has done well in reducing a little the protection given the sugar trust, which was recently found guilty of robbing the government by false weights. In the past the senate has been the best friend of the trust. Whether it will stand by it now will be determined in a month or two.

There are features of the tariff bill besides those mentioned which call for comment; but there will be abundant time in which to discuss them. It is of more importance that the consumers should study the bill and let their senators and representatives know what they think of its provisions.

IN BAD LIGHT

The deeper the probe into the Senatorial expenditures goes the more rotten do the conditions by which politics have been run for several years become apparent. Even Senator Blaine of New Jersey, it appears, used the Game Warden for his own personal campaign when he ran for the congressional nomination. Former Game Warden Overbeck, a man who has been interested in reform politics for years, tells the committee with no restrictions, that this was what the department he was head of during La Follette's regime was created for. Not only that, but he goes further by telling that Governor La Follette audited the bills himself. This is a wonderful statement, when carefully considered. It shows the extreme measures taken by a faction to keep control of state affairs and handle the reins of government to their own advantage. It places Senator Blaine in a less enviable light than he was before and causes inconvenience to the Senate members of the committee who seek to confine the probe merely to Senator Stephenson and his expenses. Let them get to the bottom of the whole affair. Let all the deals, the secret conference, the use of state money for campaign purposes, be told. Let the people know the truth and then see what will happen. It costs money to bring this out, but it is worth it in the long run.

Few people have stopped to consider that next Tuesday is primary day and that from primary day until election day it will be hot work in the political circles.

According to the way President Roosevelt is starting out he will have to go among the lions before he will find real quiet peace or tranquility.

Evidently the shogun style of measure does not appeal to Taft. Congress also prefers a little sugar with the dose handed down to it.

When it comes to starting a revolution Cuba takes the cake. It only needs seven men to stir a revolution that is called a revolution.

Local aspirants for office are now putting in their best looks to become personally acquainted with voters in all parts of the city.

Taft's Tabloid Message hit the spot and cured congress quicker than any long prescription could have done.

If Castro is really looking for trouble home is the place he will find it ready for him all right.

LIVING AS JESUS WOULD.

It is easy to ridicule the movement of those young people of Cleveland, O., who undertook to live for two weeks as Jesus would if he were face to face with modern problems.

Of the 1,800 who pledged themselves none fully succeeded.

But the fortnight of zealous striving toward an ideal was an experiment in concrete righteousness that was well worth while.

To err is human. None of these young people attained perfection. Some, starting out with honest hearts, early fell by the wayside. Others persevered, stumbled on and did the best they could.

It is easy to say, "The ideal was too high."

All ideals are too high for human realization. When an ideal is realized it is no longer an ideal. When one ideal is reached another and higher ideal takes its place.

And thus does each new vision lure to brighter worlds and point the way.

The movement was helpful. Hundreds have lived nobler and purer lives because of it.

Every striving toward an ideal, every effort for self betterment, richly pays the individual and the community. Cleveland is a better city today because the moral standard has been raised.

Even individual disappointment in well doing has its important lessons. Disappointment reveals the weak spots in character.

The vital thing in this Cleveland experiment is this—

In trying to live as Jesus would under like surroundings a call was made upon the finest and best that was in these young people. They were crying to respond to the loftiest demand that can be made upon human beings.

And whatever happens under that high call men and women are made better and happier by earnest response to such a call.

We all have our dreams. But there are few of us who deliberately go out to make our dreams come true.

That was the very thing the Cleveland young people tried to do. They tried to do great things, not dream them all day long.

Let us who are content to dream and hope and who are too cowardly to put our dreams to the test be slow to criticize.

Domestic View of Architecture.
Perhaps the average woman has no desire to become the architect of her own or anyone else's house, but she often wonders why the builder should look upon her earnest desire for cupboards and shelves—where cupboards and shelves would occur to the feminine mind—and other reasonable aids to orderly housekeeping as detrimental to the dignity of British architecture.

Teach a Valuable Lesson.
There are ten European museums of safety and sanitation, located in Berlin, Munich, Paris, Vienna, Amsterdam, Milan, Stockholm, Zurich, Moscow and Budapest. The Berlin museum of safety covers 34,000 square feet of floor space, where are exhibited devices for the protection of the dangerous parts of machinery or processes in all trades and occupations.

JIM JEFFRIES AS SEEN BY A NEW YORK CARTOONIST.

New York.—Big Jim Jeffries holds the spot light, in the east especially, these days. He has journeyed here to begin his vaudeville engagement, and the one question on the lips of all as he rolled into New York City was "Will you fight Johnson?"

Jeffries has issued his ultimatum, which, in spite of many false reports, is to the effect that he will never enter the ring with Johnson until he can get into exhibition form. The way he sizes up the situation is clearly shown in the following statement given to a reporter who had asked him the question.

"Now, lemme tell you something," says Jeff. "I would rather be broke right down to my last cent than be floored by any man in the world—and particularly Johnson. A lot of people are yapping around that we've got a black champion now. They're talking a lot of stuff about my fighting him as it is ever to enter the ring against the credit of the white race. All to the bank, that kind of talk! For the credit of the white race! I tell these days. He has journeyed here to begin his vaudeville engagement, and the one question on the lips of all as he rolled into New York City was "Will you fight Johnson?"

MANY FROM CITY TO ATTEND BIG DEBATE

Large Crowd Expected to Attend Forensic Meet at Beloit College Chapel Tomorrow Night.

Tomorrow at Beloit comes the debate which is to decide which school has the best debating team in the Beloit college debating league, when Janesville high school's speakers will take on the Janesville team of the Froopert high school in the college chapel. In the afternoon there will be a basketball contest followed by the debate in the evening. While the friends of the high school team realize that Froopert is strong in debating yet they are counting on carrying off at least a half of the honors and are hoping to secure both.

The Froopert team is known to be strong on delivery and for this reason Professor L. F. Rahr, who has been in charge of the team, has put the boys through hard drills. As additional practice, they delivered their speeches before the school at the opening exercises and those who heard them are very enthusiastic about the showing that the team will make. The feature of their speeches is the unity of the work of all three speakers. From beginning to end of their presentation of their arguments everything comes in the logical order. The strong points are emphasized as they should be and each point taken up is conclusively proved. The leader of the team is Joseph McGowan, who has planned the place each argument shall occur and who shall give it. Hyde presides in a clear, logical style, while Yahn excels in his manner of delivery.

The basketball team have also been preparing for the game with the Froopert five. Continued practice has put them in the best of condition and they have hopes for coming out ahead in this contest.

The college notified Mr. Buell that they would furnish tickets for the game, the debate and a supper at an exceedingly low price and asked for the number who would attend and who desired them. A census was accordingly taken this afternoon and 110 names were secured. This trip to Beloit will be made over the interurban tomorrow afternoon at quarter after three. A couple of special cars will be required to convey the party.

IMPERIAL BAND HAS PLANNED BIG DANCE

Decide to Give An Elaborate Dance on April 28th Instead of An Amateur Show.

Instead of giving an amateur musical show or some other similar performance this year, the Imperial band has decided to give a small dance in Assembly hall on the night of April 28. One of the special features of the affair is to be an orchestra of fifteen pieces for the waltzes and a band of thirty pieces for the preliminary concert, and two steps. The hall is to be most tastefully decorated and the lighting will be especially unique. Two years ago the band gave a similar dance which proved most delightful.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE SECOND WARD

I wish to announce that I am a candidate for re-nomination for alderman on the democratic ticket at the primaries to be held March 23, 1909.

In seeking the re-nomination I desire to state that I have no "axe to grind"; and that my record for the past two years in the Common Council will show that I have been opposed to extravagance in city affairs, and have always looked out for the interests of taxpayers. I am no representative of the gambling and saloon clique that has been holding dominating city policies by every hook or crook. My opposition to this alliance should be enough to warrant the support of every law-abiding citizen of the ward. I need your support at the primaries; to wait for election day is too late. If I am defeated at the primaries, the "machine" will have control.

JOHN D. O'HARA.

The Wednesday Night Man

It was quite in accordance with their idea of the fitness of things that the new occupant of the great house next door should be beautiful Miss Victoria Dare. Ever since the kindergarten days the small neighbors on either side had made it the dwelling place of countless princesses and princes of their fancy, and there was no denying that a real one was over so much more satisfactory.

When Miss Dare first dawned on the view of Margery and Peggy she was immediately acclaimed an angel. The idea was not a new one, however, for it had been voiced of her generally ever since—well, ever since she had come into the world to be the object of loving dispute among countless aunts and uncles, not to mention grandparents and neighbors and friends and—but that is what the story is about.

From this time on Miss Dare was the recipient of the ardent devotion of two little girls. It was expressed in the most unexpected ways, from the bestowal of a rescued and bedraggled puppy to sticky and decidedly doubtful looking samples of their united efforts at fudge-making.

All went with comparative sympathy until "they" came—"they" being an assortment of young men who were prone to dance attendance upon Victoria. They were all duly inspected by Margery and Peggy, and privately approved of or disapproved of, as the case might be. Safety lay in numbers, however, and nothing serious was apprehended until the matter was sifted down to two, the others having been promptly relegated to the none too exclusive station of "brother."

With the usual keen observance of their tender years, the small neighbors were quick to discover that on Wednesday morning there was wont to be seen with disturbing regularity a quantity of American beauty roses at Miss Dare's home. With unusual penetration, they discovered that these invariably followed the "Tuesday evening call" of one Arthur Lee. With equal perspicacity and in equal profusion appeared on Friday mornings the pink roses following the "Thursday evening call" of one Joseph Jeffreys. At first both were regarded with undisguised hostility by two pairs of childish eyes, but gradually, by their clever management of bribes in the way of candy, this sentiment was reduced to a sort of tolerant friendship. Things were progressing favorably, when one day Margery was heard to say with considerable heat: "Anyhow, if some one is bound to marry Miss Dare, I do hope it will be Mr. Lee. I always have liked 'em best with light hair in fairy tales."

"As it happened, Peggy had always been keenly partial to dark-haired heroes, and Mr. Jeffreys' choice of candy being much to her taste, she loyally waged a wordy war in his defense."

After that there was no longer true unity in their friendship. Margery was addicted to noting the superiority of American beauties over pink roses, while Peggy upheld the other side of the argument.

Much to the amusement of Victoria, they would, with an elaborate show of innocence, try to discover which of the two was the favored one. Miss Dare showed a surprising willingness to discuss each in turn with studied impartiality.

There came a morning—a Thursday morn'g—when, contrary to her usual custom, Miss Dare received Margery and Peggy in her own room upstairs. Soon she was conscious of two pairs of eager eyes regarding a profusion of violets about the room. This discovery was rapidly followed by the question:

"Oh, who sent the lovely violets, Miss Dare?"

Victoria hesitated a moment, then laughingly answered:

"Why, dear, the Wednesday night man."

For a time the enmity of Margery and Peggy was at rest, and they again had a common interest—the mysterious Wednesday night man. Miss Dare, however, evinced a supreme indifference to such an interesting subject.

At last they came to the conclusion that she didn't care a bit for him. "Because," said the knowing Margery, "she never talks about him as she does about Mr. Lee."

"Because," declared Peggy, "she doesn't keep his flowers in the front windows as she does the pink roses."

So they were convinced of the hopelessness of the case of the Wednesday night man.

But there came a time when both agreed that grown-up people really did the most unexpected things; for both the red and the pink roses ceased to come, and the florist seemed to know nothing but violets.

Again Margery and Peggy took up a common cause, and this time it was that of the Wednesday night man.

REBELS NOW ASK TERMS

Cuban Insurgents Are Ready to Surrender.

SURROUNDED BY SOLDIERS

Government Sees End of Revolution in Santa Clara Province Which Has Cost One Life—Rebels Ask for Mercy.

Havana, Mar. 18.—The revolution which broke out Monday in the province of Santa Clara, according to a statement issued by the government will be crushed in a few days.

After withholding news of the trouble, the palace officials have announced that the father of two of the members of the band headed by Sgt. Cortes of the rural guard had visited Gen. Montenegro, chief of the guard at Camaguey, and told him that the insurgents implored the clemency of the government and were anxious to surrender on the promise that their lives would be spared.

Gen. Montenegro, accompanied by a strong escort, thereupon started for the insurgent camp. The general expects to receive their surrender today.

Rurales Surround the Rebels.

The insurgents are now completely surrounded by a cordon of more than one thousand rurales, drawn from the garrisons in various parts of the island, including Havana, but owing to the rugged character of the country it will be extremely difficult for the troops to come to close quarters with the rebels.

While the government still insists that the band consists of only eight men, it is alleged that the movement is far-reaching and includes quite a large number of those who have become discontented with the way affairs have been conducted.

Lavastida, a former captain of the rurales guard, was shot and killed by the detachment of the guard sent out to arrest him. It is alleged that he made a resistance. Lavastida was reported officially as having been arrested at Placetas on the charge of complicity in the insurrectionary movement. It is rumored that the uprising is more serious than the authorities are willing to admit.

Cabinet Members Confer.

Secretary of Government Alberdi and Gen. Machado went to the palace at nine o'clock yesterday to confer with President Gomez. Later a cabinet meeting was called, and it was intimated that an official statement would be given out soon. President Gomez is in receipt of many telegrams from private citizens pledging loyalty and active support in the maintenance of the republic.

Eight Men Furnish Nucleus.

Reports received here from various parts of the island show an extraordinary concentration of the rurales guards in the direction of Yaguajay, Camaguey and Placetas, apparently far in excess of the requirements to pursue and capture the eight men who started the movement and who are still at large.

It is declared that Gen. Pino Guerra, commander of the permanent army, left Havana yesterday for the scene of the disturbance.

THE GOVERNMENT HAS SENT A TELEGRAPHIC CIRCULAR TO MAYORS THROUGHOUT THE ISLAND.

RULES AGAINST INDIANAPOLIS.

Commerce Commission Decides Rates on Sugar Are Not Wrong.

Washington, Mar. 18.—In the case of the Indianapolis freight bureau against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and 17 other carriers, the interstate commerce commission holds that the departure from the former relationship of rates on sugar from New Orleans to Indianapolis and to St. Louis and the Ohio river crossings was not unjustly discriminatory against Indianapolis, because the rates on sugar from New Orleans to St. Louis and Ohio river crossings are controlled by potential water competition.

It was held that it is unjustly discriminatory against Indianapolis to depart from the former relationship of rates on coffee, as between Indianapolis and St. Louis and Ohio river crossings, because that traffic is not controlled by water competition.

The commission in another decision decides the present adjustment of freight rates from Missouri river points to Denver and to Utah common points are discriminatory against Denver in favor of Kansas City and other Missouri river crossings, and that the class rates from Chicago and St. Louis to Denver are excessive and unreasonable and should be reduced.

Divorce Suit Causes Suicide.

Danville, Ill., Mar. 18.—Dependent because his wife was filing a divorce against him, alleging cruelty, Charles Harrington, a clerk of this city who had been wedded but six weeks, went to his home and committed suicide by asphyxiation. Harrington's body was discovered by officers who went to his home searching for him to serve an injunction restraining him from removing property from his residence.

Oklahoma Farmer Is Slain.

Muskogee, Okla., Mar. 18.—A. L. McLemore, a wealthy farmer, residing at Stone Hill, near Haskell, Okla., was shot and killed while at work on his farm. A negro tenant with whom McLemore had quarreled over a settlement of rent is suspected.

HUNTERS IN AFRICA REPORT MUCH GAME

Jungles Filled with All Kinds of Wild Animals for Roosevelt to Shoot.

Mombasa, British East Africa, Mar. 18.—Sportsmen whose interest has been revived by the coming visit of former President Roosevelt to the African jungles say the distinguished hunter will find plenty of game of all varieties.

Baron Tillyan de Vizeut, a prominent Hungarian, who has just returned here from a hunting trip, reports splendid sport with hippopotamus on the Upper Tana river and the shooting of this game he recommends the district between the Athi and the Tana rivers. The eland, gnu and oryx stalking is perfect with the exception that hunters of this game are constantly interfered with by unusually aggressive rhinoceroses.

Lions are plentiful, but with some exceptions they seem to be timid. A man named Smith, the leader of the party of Transvaal hunters who recently settled in the country, was carried Tuesday into the hospital at Nairobi, terribly mangled by a lioness. No black man lions have been seen thus far this year.

The rains are late. They have begun to fall in the Nakuru district, but otherwise they are holding off. It is now certain that they will be heavy during the first part of Mr. Roosevelt's trip.

The Uganda commission hopes that Mr. Roosevelt will visit the big camp in Uganda, where natives suffering from the sleeping sickness are cared for. The hospitality of the Mombasa club will be extended to the distinguished American visitor when he reaches here and he will be similarly entertained at Nairobi.

At this city Mr. Roosevelt will be entertained also by the governor of British East Africa, Sir James Hayes Sadler and Lady Sadler, and at Entebbe, in Uganda, by H. Hesketh-Pringle, governor of the Uganda protectorate. Gov. Hall will offer Mr. Roosevelt the use of a trained elephant to facilitate travel through the country infested with the dangerous tsetse fly.

PLANS BIG STEEL COMBINE.

John W. Gates Behind Deal for $800,000,000 Company.

Pittsburg, Pa., Mar. 18.—That an effort is being made to consolidate most of the larger independent steel companies of the country into one big combine which would rival the United States Steel Corporation in size and influence, has leaked out here through a steel manufacturer who had been approached in regard to associating his business with the new concern, which, it is said, would have a capital of $800,000,000.

The name of John W. Gates is used in connection with the project as a backer and it is said that he took up the plan of consolidation after it had been broached to J. Pierpont Morgan, who declined because of his unwillingness to add so large a transaction to his business affairs. Concerns which, it is said, are to form the nucleus for the consolidation are the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, the Lackawanna Steel Company, the Bethlehem Steel Company, the Pennsylvania Steel Company, the Maryland Steel Company, the Laclede Steel Company and the Inland Steel Company.

"I was a great sufferer from a female disease. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months."

Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 58, Gardiner, Me.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female diseases, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periods, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

PARIS ALARMED; IN FEAR OF RIOTS

Telegraph Strike Expected to Cause Trouble.

TROOPS AWAITING A CALL

France Nearly Isolated by Walkout,
Mails Are Held Up and Great Financial Loss Results—Both Sides Determined to Win.

Paris, Mar. 18.—This being a holiday, the government troops are in readiness for a call should any rioting result from the telegraphers' strike. The latter carriers have joined the operators and telephone girls in their fight.

The strike movement has gained rapidly. Paris being practically isolated from the rest of France and France from the outside world. Eight thousand strikers passed a resolution to maintain the struggle to the bitter end.

Premier Clemenceau declares the government is ready for a fight and will not recede in its determination to force the strikers to work. A serious situation, however, has arisen through the inability of the government to communicate with its foreign representatives and the strikers have cut the private telephone wire connecting the Elysée palace with the various ministries.

Troops Held in Readiness.

Troops are held in readiness at Versailles to reinforce the Paris troops in case any demonstrations of a serious nature occur today, which is a holiday. There is an alarming rumor that the secretary of the railroad employees' union has promised to order out these men in a sympathetic strike.

Cables containing a great number of wires have been cut by the strikers, and telegrams for England, Germany, Switzerland and Italy are now being refused.

The Women Telegraph Operators

marched out at noon yesterday, amid the plaudits of the men. There is only one wire working to Brussels. Operations on the Bourso have been paralyzed.

About 150 military telegraphers are now at work in the central station, and naval telegraphers are on their way here from Brest.

Clemenceau Refuses Terms.

Premier Clemenceau flatly refused to offer terms to the strikers. He told the justices of Paris, who called to see him relative to what the government proposed to do to end the serious situation, and who suggested a bill creating a superior council of the administration which could consider the employees' grievances, that the government would remain away from their posts.

The premier declared that the strike was senseless, entailing the gravest consequences not only to the business of France, but to the country itself, from an international point of view. He pointed out that the government now was without highly important diplomatic communications, and concluded by saying:

"The employees want to fight; we accept, but we will not cede, and I am confident that the government will win."

The international and interurban mails are at a standstill, entailing heavy business losses. Some of the larger commercial and financial firms have sent agents to London, Brussels, Antwerp, Strasbourg and other places, where they are receiving messages and conducting operations. The houses here, at Lyons, Marseilles and other centers are at a standstill, owing to the lack of quotations from foreign exchanges.

The foreign office, in the midst of the Balkan crisis, is unable to communicate with its representatives abroad.

Los Angeles, Cal., Mar. 18.—E. H. Harriman says his physicians were strongly advising him to give up all active participation in his affairs for a time, and that he had decided to follow their advice to the greatest extent possible.

Mr. Harriman said it was impossible for him to give up his work entirely, but that he was reducing his activities to the minimum as fast as possible. He refused to say whether he would go to Panama before returning to New York.

Expresses Sympathy for Irish.

Washington, Mar. 18.—"Resolved, that we sympathize with those lovers of freedom who are struggling for home rule and the great cause of local self-government in Ireland." That was the St. Patrick's resolution which Mr. Edwards of Georgia introduced in the house.

Wheeling, W. Va., Mar. 18.—James J. Corbett has issued a second challenge for a fight with either Jeffries or Johnson. In it he says: "I will forward a check for $1,000 to Al Smith, the well-known stakeholder, in New York, as a guarantee of my good faith."

Home Course In Modern Agriculture

XI.—Bacteria—How They Affect the Farmer

By C. V. GREGORY,
Agricultural Division, Iowa State College

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association

WE hear a great deal about bacteria, or germs, as they are more popularly called, but few people know what they really are. Although they are so small that it would take several thousand together to make a spot large enough to be seen with the naked eye, yet their importance to the farmer is not measured by their size.

Bacteria are tiny plants, each composed of a single cell. These cells are of various shapes and sizes. Some are round, some long and some shaped like a corkerew. Some are found singly and some in groups. Some cannot move at all, some move by twisting themselves about, and still others have long, tail-like flagella by which they move themselves along.

Bacteria are made up of a clear, jellylike material called protoplasm. This protoplasm is surrounded by a harder cell wall. There is a great difference in the thickness of these cell walls, and on this thickness depends to a large extent the ability of the germs to withstand unfavorable conditions. Those with thin cell walls can be killed easily, while the thicker walled kinds are very difficult to exterminate.

Bacteria propagate themselves by dividing. One cell divides into two. Each of these two grows to full size and divides again, and so on. Under favorable conditions this process may be repeated every half hour. At this rate the descendants of one germ would in ten hours number more than a million.

At times the part of the protoplasm of a germ will gather into a round, comparatively hard mass, called a spore. The rest of the cell then crumbles away. This spore is inactive, but possesses much greater powers of resistance than when in the active state. These spores often remain alive to start the infection afresh after the active bacteria have all been killed by disinfection.

Bacteria, like higher plants, have definite requirements for growth. One of the most important of these is moisture. Drying will not kill bacteria, but it will stop their multiplication. Another essential to bacterial growth is warmth. Cold, like dryness, will not kill them, but it will stop them from multiplying. This is the reason that the southing of milk or the spoiling of meat, which is caused by bacteria, goes on much more slowly or not at all when they are kept in a cold place.

One of the principal foods of bacteria is nitrogen. Without it they cannot live. Because of this fact sugar and hay, which contain no nitrogen, never spoil. Bacteria also require oxygen, though only certain species are dependent on the air for their supply. One of these is the kind that causes meat and vegetables to decay. This is why canned fruit and vegetables do not spoil. The bacteria have been killed and the oxygen driven off by heating. The few germs that do get in before the can is sealed up cannot develop for lack of air. If the can is not air tight, however, some oxygen will find its way in, the germs will multiply, and the contents will spoil.

Not all bacteria are injurious. Although some of man's most deadly enemies are found among these invisible micro-organisms, yet many of them are his best friends. We have already learned about the bacteria that live on the roots of legumes and change the nitrogen of the air into a form in which it can be used by plants.

The putrefying bacteria, or those which cause rotting, are more beneficial than harmful. By their action dead animals and other refuse matter are quickly reduced to the elements from which they were made. Even the odor given off during the process is also beneficial as a reminder that the matter of burying or burning has been neglected.

Other micro-organisms in the form of yeast are a necessary help in bread-making. The yeast plants, growing in the dough, set free considerable amounts of carbon dioxide. This gas in trying to escape fills the dough with holes and spaces, making it "rise."

The bacteria which cause milk and cream to sour are also useful. Butter made from sweet cream is lacking in flavor, and there is not so much of it, since the globules of butter fat do not collect as readily as in sour cream. But, while the germs that cause milk to sour are harmless, there are others often found in milk that are not. The first variety will always be plentiful enough anyway, and the others should be kept down to as small a number as possible.

One of the most important methods of doing this is by cleanliness. The milk pails and strainers and the scum rator should be thoroughly cleaned every time they are used. More rinsing with cold water is not enough. Following the ordinary washing by scrubbing with boiling water is the only sure way of killing all the germs. In cleaning dishes a brush is much better than a rag, since it can be more easily cleaned itself. A dish rag remains damp for a long time after it has been used and furnishes an excellent place for bacteria to grow. The "dish rag flavor" caused by these can often be detected in butter.

After the dishes have been scalded they should be placed in the sun for several hours. There should be no much sunshine as possible in the milk room and cow stable also. Sunlight, which is so necessary to the growth of the higher plants, is fatal to bacteria.

The stable where the milking is done should be cleaned and aired every day. A coat of whitewash should be applied occasionally, as in addition to being a good germ killer it also makes the stable much lighter. Hay should not be fed immediately before milking, as the dust from it is covered with bacteria. The udders and flanks of the cows should be kept perfectly clean. A little dirt falling from them into the milk will take with it thousands of germs. The milk should not be left in the barn after it is drawn, but taken immediately to the milk room.

Many creameries and city milk dairies practice pasteurization. This simply consists in heating the milk to as high a temperature as possible without scalding it. This kills most of the germs, and the few that are left will not develop rapidly enough to do much harm. In creameries a starter—that is, a portion of milk which contains a particular kind of bacteria—is added after pasteurization and the cream then "ripens" for twelve hours or so. This supplying germs which are known to produce desirable flavors and killing the others better of very high quality may be made.

There are bacteria everywhere—in the soil, in the air and in the water. By far the greater number of these are harmless. Even disease germs are unable to obtain a foothold in a perfectly healthy animal or person. The secretions of the mouth and the digestive organs are fatal to many of them. Even if they succeed in getting into the blood they are not yet out of danger. The blood contains large numbers of white corpuscles, which seem to have no duty to perform but to seize and destroy these invaders. It is only when an animal becomes weakened from one cause or another that these corpuscles fail to do their duty and the germs begin their destructive work.

The first step in avoiding infection by disease producing bacteria, then, is to keep the animals healthy by proper feed, exercise and shelter. The next point is to do everything possible to prevent the germs from getting into the animal's body.

In case a contagious disease of any sort appears the sick animals should be shut up by themselves as far as possible from the rest of the herd. Disinfectants, such as coal tar dips and bichloride of mercury (one part of the chemical, two parts salt and 1,000 parts water), should be used freely. Cows should be taken out to carry the germs from the sick animals to the well ones while caring for them.

Wounds, such as wire cuts, need especial care to prevent infection. Ordinary disinfectants are too irritating, yet something must be done to keep the bacteria from attacking the raw surfaces. Keeping the wound bound up tightly and sprinkling daily with powdered iodoform is one of the best ways of insuring rapid healing.

The germ problem, like the problem of weeds and insects, is easily solved if it is gone at in the right way. Cleanliness, sunlight and disinfection will do much to hold the injurious ones in check, and the others need no encouragement to continue doing their invisible though none the less real work to help us. There is no special reason why the germ problem should be made a matter of constant uneasiness on the part of the farmer. It requires a scientist to discriminate between bacteria that are injurious and those that are necessary, and in the meantime it is sufficient for the ordinary agriculturist to be diligent in intruding himself behind cleanliness. Thus fortified he will have little occasion to make a special study of bacteria. Let the scientists do that.

Beware! Beware! You Find Him. There is no one who is not dangerous for somebody.—Seymour.

PIANO-SHIPING CASE

Times Apart and Will Stand More
Trips Than Ordinary Box.

The Illinois man who devised the piano shipping case shown in the cut probably missed a train one time by losing his way in a wilderness of boxes in front of a piano store. However that may have been, he has turned out a very useful article which not only does away with a litter of empty boxes on the pavement, but is so made that it will stand more trips than the ordinary case. It is a happy combination of convenience and economy. This case is so constructed that the back, sides, top and bottom are in sections and can be taken apart and put together at will. When not in use the case can be taken apart and the boards stored along the wall out of the way or placed on shelves in a convenient location. When together it forms a neat and sturdy case that will bear a lot of rough usage. In this manner the operation can go on with many occasional interruptions from the household, and in this capacity it can be made to do numerous tasks which will relieve the housekeeper to the extent of saving her time, allowing her with the machine's help to give her attention to several things at the same time. For instance, instead of devoting three or four minutes to turning and feeding the meat-chopper, she has but to roll the motor up to the chopper and make the necessary connection between them,

TENT USED AS A COAT

Sections Are Thus Transported by Members of Hunting Party.

The problem of the transportation of the tent has always been a difficult one for the huntsman to solve. Besides being heavy, the tent is cumbersome to handle. A San Francisco inventor has devised an exceedingly simple and simple arrangement of the tent which makes transportation easy. As shown in the accompanying illustration, this tent can be disassembled into sections and converted into one or more articles of apparel. It can thus be conveniently and easily transported by the members of the hunting party, making it of inestimable value to trappers, hunters and campers generally. The tent shown here is composed of a number of detachable triangular sections, each being adapted to be folded upon itself and secured at the edges, to form a poncho. For connecting the sections of the tent together, buttons and buttons are employed. When using the tent as a poncho the arms are passed through the connected edges between the buttons, and any device, such as a string, is tied about the waist. The device thus applied gives the wearer free use of his arms and provides a garment fitting with closeness for comfort and protection from the weather. By joining two sections a smaller tent can be made. The pole is constructed of a number of convenient sections, which can be distributed among any number of hunters. The tent is held together with the pole, and the entire tent in this manner carried from one place to another without entailing any inconvenience, but, on the contrary, providing the hunter with a weatherproof garment.

WATCH NOT NEEDED FOR WANDERING BOY

Wandering Boy Can Be Located by Observing the Evening Perambulations of Girls.

That the old question, "Where is my wandering boy tonight?" should be thrown into the discard along with "Teddy Bears, Rag Dolls and the like," is the opinion of one businessman whose work keeps him downtown late every night. If anxious parents would only substitute the word "girls" for "boys" in the expression, and then promptly proceed to ferret out the whereabouts of their girls, they would have saved much needless sorrow and disgrace. Moreover, the whereabouts of their wandering boys would also be discovered, and the reason for their wanderings made clear.

It is a common occurrence during favorable weather to see many girls in groups of two or three parading up and down the streets late at night, heading most frequently the places where young men and boys generally congregate. Or, after a show at the opera-house or one of the neighborhood exchanges, they are seen in the company of their friends. In many cases the girls are very young, some of them not more than twelve or thirteen, and seemingly indifferent to the consequences of their actions. Many times their replies are evasive and their faces are flushed with the excitement of the moment. They are indifferent to the disapproving glances at them by older people, who overheard their conversation or are delayed by their useless progress along the street. "They ought to be spanked thoroughly and sent home" is a remedy often suggested for cases of this kind.

Without a doubt the parents of these children do not know that they are roaming the streets late at night. They are probably too careless to take the trouble to find out if their girls really go down to Anna's or Mike's whenever they state that they wish to meet the crowd at the corner. The real fault is undoubtedly with the parents, not the children, for they are taking the first steps on the downward path. No one really believes them bad, but it is generally conceded that it is only a question of time when they will be for experience gleaned from the street is not conducive to modest behavior.

CONSIDERABLE TALK AS TO NEW RAILWAY

Proposed Route of the Chicago, Milwaukee & Gary Railroad Interests Local Businessmen.

Since the announcement some days ago that Janesville would be on the route of the proposed Chicago, Milwaukee and Gary railroad there has been considerable talk relative to the matter and much conjecture of how much there was to the report that the bonds have been financed by a St. Louis bank. As far as can be learned the new company which takes over the present plans of the former Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota road is ready to go ahead with the work immediately. When completed it will mean a hot line around Chicago which will be a great saving in freight rates. The actual value to Janesville will be the competition which a new line of railway will mean for freight carriers, which indirectly means much to the consumer.

The route of the belt will be from Milwaukee through the cities of Janesville, Deloit, Rockford, DeKalb, Aurora, Joliet, Moline and Crown Point to Gary. The road is now in operation from Rockford to Moline, using the tracks of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern line from Aurora to Joliet.

The line to be built goes from Moline to Gary, twenty miles; from Moline to Rockford, 100 miles; to Joliet, twenty-two miles; to cost $2,225,000; from Milwaukee to Rockford, 100 miles; to Joliet, twenty-two miles; to cost $2,500,000, and from Aurora to Joliet, twenty-two miles, to cost $1,500,000. It is said there has been expended up to date in construction and right of way about $5,000,000. The company has an authorized bond issue of $20,000,000 of which only $2,500,000 is outstanding. The $10,000,000 new bond issue will be general mortgage bonds bearing five per cent interest. The $10,000,000 of common stock outstanding is to be secured with the first company's stock. The issue will be increased to $20,000,000. The largest individual stockholder is Mr. Seaman. When completed the belt line will have 251 miles.

MINISTER TO BOYS GOES TO CALUMET

Dr. Leonard W. The work in which Dr. Snyder is engaged is estimated at a cost of $10,000 a year by a number of wealthy friends who consider the country and he travels from New York to Nevada and from upper Michigan to Texas, taking of 250,000 children each year. Of this number, he is confident that 50,000 are persuaded that boys who smoke cigarettes are like worms apples—doomed to drop long before the harvest time. He is in touch with 300 young men through-

LOCAL DEALERS ARE STILL IN DOLDRUMS

Whether Present Calm Will Be Followed by Prosperous Droeze Remains to Be Seen.

There has been no change reported in the general condition of the local tobacco market since last week. The demand for old leaf still continues to be slack, but there is a general feeling that, with the recovery of general confidence throughout the country, the cigar industry will again become normal and with it the sales of leaf. But two transactions of any importance are reported, that of C. J. Jones and Son of 200 cases to Eastern Pacific and the purchase of a 225 case lot by L. R. Carle and Son.

On the whole, purchases of this season's crop have been slow. The dealers have bought all they intend to pack, and are now busy finishing up and waiting for sales to happen. Although admitting that the season is very quiet, they refuse to believe that it will be but a short time before the busy time begins. No changes have been made in the working forces of the warehouses since last week. S. H. Hedden, since a force of twenty-five girls to work today stemming.

HINTS ON THE OPERATION OF AN INCUBATOR

From U. S. Bulletin No. 236.

Study your incubator. Acquaint yourself with all its parts. Read the manufacturer's directions for setting it up.

Set it up carefully and according to instructions.

Never try to run an incubator in a drafty place, or near a stove, nor have the eggs near a window on it.

Set fertile eggs only. Waste no effort upon those that are doubtful.

Learn how to trim and clean a lamp.

Keep the lamps full and the wick and tube clean.

Avoid smoke. See that the eggs are clean and dry before setting them.

Balance all eggs, large and up, a few hours before placing them in the tray.

Do not overfill the tray. Turn every egg the third day. Cool the eggs every morning.

Be sure your hands are clean when handling eggs.

Test all eggs by the seventh day. Test again by the eleventh day. Test again by the fifteenth day.

If the air space is too large, supply moisture; if too small, put a saucer of dry lime in the room and run without moisture a day or two.

Do not expect to learn all about the air cell the first hatch. You will learn that later.

Do not disturb the eggs after the evening of the eleventh day.

Do not tinker too much with the regulator. Get the adjustment right and keep it so.

Plans and preparations are already being made for the Odd Fellows' Grand Lodge convention which is to be in session here three days, commencing on Tuesday June 1, and which is expected to attract between twelve and fifteen hundred visitors to Janesville. The rink has been engaged for the general meetings and the Myers theatre for the opening reception. The Wednesday side Odd Fellows' ball, on Wednesday evening, June 2, there will be a grand ball at the rink for all the visiting Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. Elaborate electric decorations for the streets and rink are in contemplation and an effort will be made to secure cooperation of the merchants and business men in putting the main portion of the city in holiday dress. ## FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF PYTHIAN SISTERS

Janesville Organization Had Big Celebration in Hall Tuesday Evening.

[Special to the Gazette.]
Janesville, March 17.—The Pythian sisters celebrated the first anniversary of the local organization in a very pleasant manner at their hall last evening. A fine program was given and very much enjoyed. The evening's entertainment opened with a piano solo by Mrs. J. C. Lee, E. H. Devo and Pythias and was followed by a vocal solo by Miss Stella Mace, Chancery Commander J. W. Ames gave a speech on "Knights of Pythias" and after a duet by the Misses Olive Gilman and Lela Baker, E. W. Gilman gave a talk in which he told why the name was changed from "Knights" to "Pythian Sisters." A paper on "The Pythian Sisters" was given by Mrs. Fred Jones. It was a review of the year's work and very interesting. The program closed with a cornet and saxophone duet by Messrs. J. H. Johnson and Clyde Plator. Near the close of a very pleasant evening refreshments were served.

Ebony Gray has gone to Kansas City, where he has been engaged to play in an orchestra in a theatre. Fred Hendricks has been obliged to give up his studies at the Methodist University because of ill health and will come home and endeavor to resume work again at the U. W. next year.

Mrs. E. M. S. Hawley is entertaining her grand daughter, Miss Ellen M. Hawley of Argyle, Wis. She will be her guest for several days.

CAPACITY HOUSE FOR THREE TWINS

Musical Comedy Performance Proved a Record-Breaker in Its Drawing Power.

There was standing room only for the musical comedy production "Three Twins" at the Myers theatre last evening and the audience performance was also well attended. The piece was humorously staged and numerous features such as the tableaux of the "Seven Ages of Childling," the big electrical swing, the "Faceograph" and the "Yama-Yama" dance met with enthusiastic approval. It was in the last-named dance number that the little madcap boy, Jesse Clifford, scored the big hit of the evening. The costumes and millinery were unusually varied and elaborate, ranging from bathingsuits to the last word in "Merry Widows" and director, and some of the chorus evolutions such as the "Human Tally-ho" were particularly amusing.

The mistakes of the director which were productive of considerable good, straight comedy and Victor Morley is at his best while keeping strictly within his role, although some of his play such as the "Hyponotic Kiss" by him with Miss Clifford and the serenade duet with Eva Fallon is quite pleasing. The latter, who had the principal singing role, seemed to be handicapped by a severe cold. George Trimble was excellent in the role of the irascible old General and Della Niven gave a very good delineation of "The Cheerful Weeper." Jane Patterson, the Faceograph girl, also deserves special mention.

The showgirls are a good-looking lot, as should be, and the brooding, naughtiness and the plenty of swing and jiggle and melody in the score, the singing, both solo and chorus, is not up to the very low standard set by recent musical productions of this character.

New York Man Ends Life After Losing His Savings.

New York, Mar. 18.—Despondent because he had lost all his life savings in investments in Zion City, Ill., industries, the city started by the late John Alexander Dowdy, Ludwig August, 71 years old, committed suicide by hanging himself in his room on Second avenue.

August became a follower of Dowdy when the self-styled Apostle of Zion visited here and held his famous meetings in Madison Square garden several years ago. The suicide invested about $2,000 in the lace industry and bank stock in Zion City and was unable to get any return on his money after Zion City went into the hands of a receiver.
